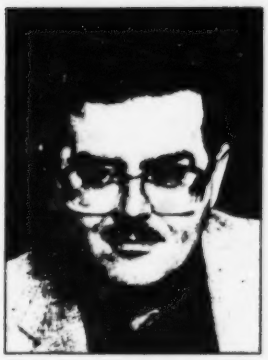
Dear Mr. Reid,

On behalf of the Board of Directors it is my pleasure to submit the eighth Annual Report of the British Columbia Heritage Trust, for the year ending March 31, 1986.

Respectfully submitted,

Michael Patterson,
Chairman

BRITISH COLUMBIA Heritage Trust



Chairman's Message

It is my pleasure to present the Annual Report of the British Columbia Heritage Trust for the 1985/86 Fiscal year. During 1986, Ministerial responsibility for the Trust was transferred from the Provincial Secretary to the Ministry of Tourism, Recreation and Culture. I would like to welcome our new Minister, the Honourable Bill Reid, and to thank both the Honourable Grace McCarthy and the Honourable James Chabot for their support and encouragement during their respective terms as Provincial Secretary and Minister of Government Services. I would also like to express the appreciation of the Board for the work of Michael Young, who stepped down as Chairman in December, 1985. His leadership and his dedication to the heritage of this Province are recorded by the numerous projects completed during his term.

The British Columbia Heritage Trust is a facilitator of heritage projects. Program guidelines are established both to help clients plan their heritage projects by demonstrating the type of projects eligible for support and to assist the Directors to adjudicate grant applications. Of prime importance in the adjudication process is the demonstrable support of the local community. It is the responsibility of the community to decide what has heritage value in the community and to establish their priority for the preservation of that heritage.

There are always difficult decisions to be made in the heritage field. It has been the policy of the Trust to meet directly with local community groups whenever possible to discuss heritage projects. During the past year, the Board met with representatives of local organizations in Vancouver, Nanaimo, Penticton, Powell River, Richmond and Victoria. As well, Directors met individually with members of the heritage community throughout the province.

Highlights of the past year's activities included:

- enthusiastic community response to the official opening of the Keremeos Grist Mill. Plans are under way to make the Mill machinery operational and to encourage the use of the site by local residents, the travelling public, schools, heritage experts and others interested in this important operation.

- the work accomplished on Locomotive 374, designated as a British Columbia Heritage Object in July, 1985. The Locomotive will be on public display on the Roundhouse Turntable during Expo 86.
- the Esso Heritage Brick Program, which raised public funds for the preservation of transportation artifacts. The program will continue during the coming year and the resultant funds will be administered by the Trust.
- the Student Employment Program provided 51 university students with opportunities to develop skills in heritage conservation, while doing important work in a number of British Columbia communities. A Student Employment Program Selected Bibliography,1982-1985 was prepared and is available from the Trust on request.

The year 1985/86 has been a year of transition. Pauline Rafferty was appointed to a special Ministry initiative and is now Director of Marketing and Communications. Clifford Hewitt has assumed responsibilities for Heritage Sites and Trust Services. The cooperation and hard work of Heritage Conservation Branch staff has long been a factor in the success of the Trust, and I would like to express the appreciation of the Past Chairman and myself for their support under Russell Irvine, Director.

During 1985, Rear Admiral Mickey Stirling retired from the Trust. On behalf of Board members I extend to Admiral Stirling a thank you for the work he undertook. Kenneth Bagshaw of Vancouver was appointed a Trust Director during 1985. Mr. Bagshaw brings to the Trust extensive experience with local organizations, volunteer boards and the museum and gallery community.

The Trust encourages the corporate sector to support heritage activities. During 1985 corporate support was evident in a number of projects. Foremost among the corporate sponsors was Imperial Oil Limited for their sponsorship of the Esso Heritage Brick Program; Petro Canada for their cost-sharing of the three-year Kunghit Haida Project; and Shell Canada for their continuing assistance with the Flathead Oil Rigs Project.

The Trust has enjoyed a number of achievements during 1985. As we approach our ninth year of involvement with communities throughout the province, new initiatives, proposals and commitments will be the challenges facing the Trust. In co-operation with the energy and support of volunteers and professionals alike, we propose to encourage, facilitate and support heritage activities in our province.

Michael Patterson, Chairman*
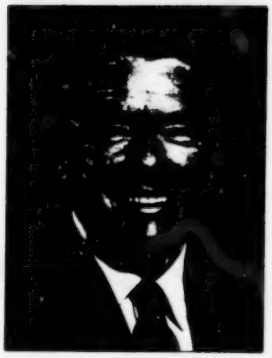
British Columbia Heritage Trust



Minister's Message

The people of British Columbia enjoy a rich and varied heritage and 1986 has offered an opportunity to share it with the world. Without the work of the Heritage Trust and countless individuals and Societies, our heritage may have been lost. Lottery funds administered by the Trust have enabled volunteers in many communities throughout the province to conserve and restore heritage properties that are part of our citizens' cultural identities.

Together with my colleague, the Honourable Grace McCarthy, who was the Minister responsible for the Heritage Trust during the year covered by this report, I am pleased to have this opportunity to congratulate the directors and staff of the Trust for the work they have accomplished during the past year. A special thank you to the many thousands of volunteers who spend countless hours and breathe life into so many projects. I am confident all of you will continue your high level of dedication and service in the future.

Introduction

The British Columbia Heritage Trust was established by the Heritage Conservation Act of 1977. The role of the Trust is "to support, encourage and facilitate the conservation, maintenance and restoration of heritage property in the Province". The Trust has a number of objectives, but one of its main purposes is to award grants to projects that enhance people's awareness and enjoyment of their heritage.

Public interest in heritage has grown rapidly in the past few years, as private individuals and public bodies have undertaken and developed highly successful heritage projects. The Trust may assist in many of these projects, but it is the commitment of both volunteers and staff in communities throughout the Province that brings them to completion. There are literally thousands of hours of unpaid work behind successful heritage projects. Growing concern for the destruction of irreplaceable archaeological sites and historical buildings brought about action which has developed self-confidence among community groups in their ability to preserve their heritage. The overall success of heritage renewal has convinced the general public that such projects are worth supporting and maintaining for the future.

The Board of Directors of the Trust meet regularly in communities throughout the province to adjudicate grant applications. The Directors welcome the opportunity to discuss the concerns of each community with municipal councils and heritage groups. During the 85/86 fiscal year, Trust meetings were held in Powell River, Penticton, Vancouver, Richmond, Nanaimo and Victoria. The Trust strives to visit as many communities as possible and for the coming year has scheduled, to date, meetings in Revelstoke, North Vancouver and Kamloops.

During 1985 the Directors hosted a dinner meeting with executive representatives of provincial heritage associations. Mr. Don Bunyan, Archaeological Association of British Columbia, Mr. Leonard McCann, B.C. Historical Federation, Ms. Mary Liz Bayer, Heritage Society of British Columbia, Mr. David Griffiths, Underwater Archaeological Society of British Columbia, and Mr. John Mitchell, B.C. Museums Association joined the Trust Board, Mr. Guy Simonis, President, B.C. Lottery Corporation, and Mr. Barry Kelsey, Assistant Deputy Minister, to exchange ideas on heritage matters. As well, the Trust hosted meetings with representatives of the South Australia Trust and the National Trust of the United States.

The Trust is primarily a granting agency, but it also develops a variety of projects, exhibits and special events. These projects are detailed in the following pages.

The Trust encourages donations to the Trust fund: direct support from both private citizens and corporations augment support from the British Columbia Lottery fund, to enhance the ability of the Trust to support heritage activities.

During 1985/86, the following grants were awarded. As the Trust generally allows a two year period for the completion of projects and full payment of grants are withheld until the completion of projects, the total grants paid out does not necessarily equal the total grants awarded.

Planning and Inventory

This program is intended to assist municipalities, villages, towns and regional districts with preliminary or comprehensive surveys of heritage buildings, and historic and prehistoric sites. The first step in any heritage conservation program is to identify the nature and extent of the heritage resources to be conserved. Without such identification a realistic heritage conservation program cannot be implemented.

Before beginning any survey work, it is important to ask for what purpose the data will be used. Without a clearly defined set of goals and objectives, the possibility always exists of collecting data which is not very useful, while ignoring that which is useful.

The purpose of the survey and inventory process may be defined broadly as the examination of the total heritage resources within a defined program area and the identification of significant physical resources which may, after intensive analysis, prove to be of heritage importance to the area.

The results of a survey and inventory form the basis for making sound judgements in planning.

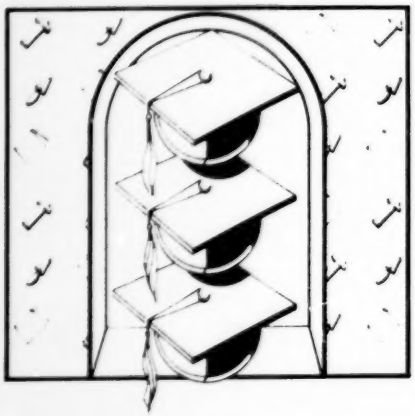
Scholarships



The British Columbia Heritage Trust Scholarship Program may offer awards annually in the following fields: British Columbia Archaeology, British Columbia Architecture, British Columbia History or Archival Management. Each scholarship is dedicated to the memory of an outstanding British Columbian who, in his own field, contributed greatly to the understanding and conservation of this province's unique heritage.

Charles Borden has rightfully been called the "Father of British Columbia Archaeology". In 1949, he initiated an academic program in archaeology at the University of British Columbia. Working extensively in the southwestern corner of the province, Dr. Borden established a 12,000 year sequence of human occupation.

Peter Cotton was a gifted restoration architect and a leader in his field. His restoration projects included, among others, Richard Carr House, Craigflower Manor and the exterior of St. Andrew's Cathedral in Victoria. British Columbia owes a great deal to this pioneer of heritage restoration.

Willard Ireland was well known for his popularization of provincial history. As a writer and a teacher, Dr. Ireland's contributions to the identification, interpretation and preservation of historic resources of British Columbia are incomparable.

Charles E. Borden Scholarship in Archaeology — Diane Alexander Thesis topic: Interassemblage Variability in Stone Tools: an Ethnoarchaeological Approach.	$11,000.

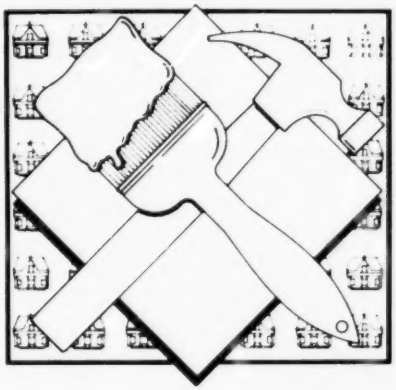
Building Restoration



The intent of this grant program is to assist with the exterior restoration of designated buildings owned by a municipality, regional district or non-profit heritage society. All projects must have as a primary objective restoration with the aim of historical accuracy.

The Trust may provide funds of up to 50 per cent of the exterior restoration costs. In most cases, these grants should be considered a one-time only award. The maximum grant is $50,000; maintenance and operating costs will not be funded under this program. It should be noted that the Trust will not assist financially with the moving or restoration of relocated heritage buildings.

Heritage Area Revitalization

Buildings which were important in the early development of these communities, and which have significant visual impact, are a necessary part of this type of restoration. The Trust is prepared to commit funding for projects of up to three years' duration and requires that matching funds be committed.

When proposals are submitted, it is essential that applicants demonstrate support from the community at large.

Trust monies may be used for:

- planning and research
- design services of specialists, such as architects and engineers, required for each project
- restoration and cleaning of historic building facades, monuments and signs

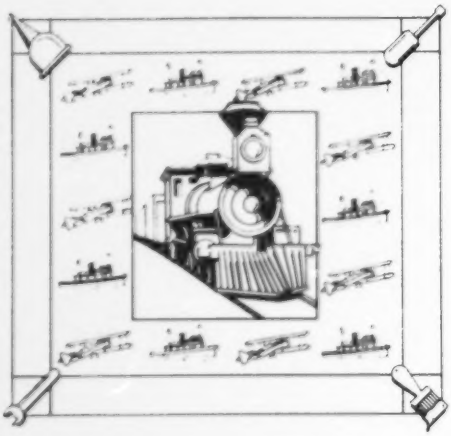
Transportation Artifacts



The theme of Expo 86 is transportation. The history of British Columbia is directly tied to the opening up of transportation routes, and its geography has necessitated a dependence on all forms of transportation. Capital Projects

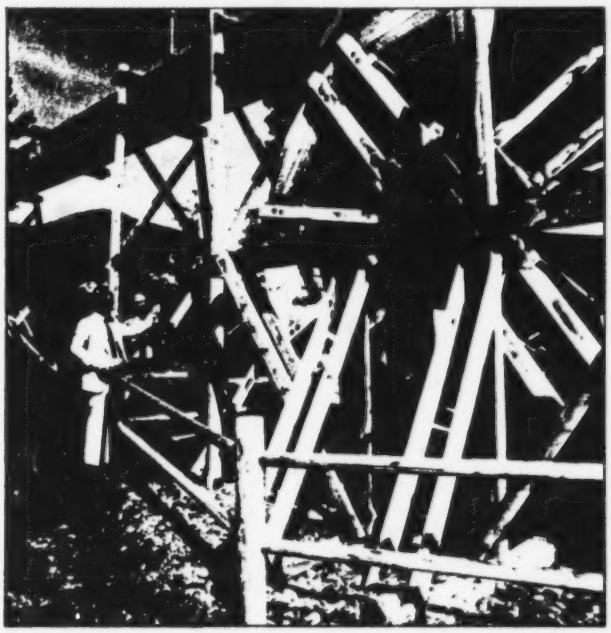
Grist Mill, Keremeos

The Grist Mill at Keremeos was officially opened by former Provincial Secretary James Chabot on British Columbia Day, August 5, 1985. The event was well attended by local residents and interested parties from the surrounding area, including several descendents of the original owner, Barrington Price.

In anticipation of this opening, much work was accomplished over the past year including extensive work on the mill house. In addition, a leading milling expert was brought in to assess the machinery, which will be restored to operating condition in the next year.



Hat Creek Ranch

Although little structural work was carried out at Hat Creek this year, the emphasis was placed on collecting documentation. Copies of historic photographs of the ranch at different periods have been collected, as well as interviews held with individuals formerly connected with the site.

Plans continue for the gradual restoration of the site with emphasis on the stabilization of the larger barns.

Application Procedures

Applications for grants from the British Columbia Heritage Trust may be made at any time. Some programs require the use of application forms, whereas for others application is by letter. All applications, with the exception of the publications and scholarship programs, should be submitted by the local governing council. The Trust will, however, consider applications from heritage groups or societies provided they have the endorsement of the local government council.

The British Columbia Heritage Trust is assisted in its work by staff of the Heritage Conservation Branch. The Director of the Heritage Conservation Branch acts as Executive Officer to the Trust. All enquiries should be addresssed to the British Columbia Heritage Trust, but may then be referred to the Branch to provide technical assistance in the following areas: architecture, archaeology, planning and establishing a heritage conservation program. Branch staff may be in contact with applicants for further information prior to submission of applications to the Board of Directors. Formal applications to the Trust are taken forward to the Board of Directors meetings by the Executive Officer of the Heritage Conservation Branch and the Manager of the Trust.

Program information and application forms are available on request from:
